E. Documentation. Purchaser may refuse to accept Product not supplemented by required documentation.

F. Quality Records. Supplier will retain all records that provide evidence of conformance to specified requirements and the effective operation of the quality system for a period not less than ten (10) years after final payment, or as otherwise specified in flow down requirements from Purchaser's customer contracts. Failure to identify and provide all documentation with the shipment of the Product will result in the issuance of a corrective action request. Purchaser's authorization to ship a nonconformance does not constitute acceptance of the nonconforming shipment, nor does it relieve Supplier of the responsibility of providing acceptable Product.

H. Configuration Management. Supplier will maintain the configuration, including revision levels and serial numbers, of all Products and all associated data or drawings throughout all manufacturing, programming, testing, and all processing steps. Changes to any configuration of the Products will be approved by Purchaser prior to implementation.

Supplier's duty to defend is independent of its duty to indemnify. Supplier's obligations under this Section 10 are independent of any other obligation of Purchaser under this Purchase Order. Supplier's obligations under this Section 10 will survive Purchaser's acceptance of and payment for the Products. If an alleged claim of infringement or misappropriation is made, Supplier shall procure for Purchaser, and Purchaser's customers, the rights to continue using the Products, modify them in a manner acceptable to Purchaser to remove the claim, or with the written approval of Purchaser, replace the Products with a non-infringing one or remove the Products and refund the purchase price.

Supplier will keep this insurance in effect for at least five years after the last sale of Products to Purchaser, and will furnish Purchaser certificates of insurance evidencing such coverage promptly upon Purchaser's request. Purchaser's approval of any of Supplier's insurance does not relieve Supplier of any obligations in this Purchase Order, including but not limited to its defense and indemnity, even for claims over Supplier's policy limits.

"Confidential Information" means (a) oral information (whether or not reduced to writing and marked with a restrictive legend), information that is marked or identified as "Confidential", "Restricted", "Proprietary", or with a similar designation, or if not so designated, that the Supplier should reasonably expect to be confidential due to its nature; (b) technical, process, proprietary or economic information derived from drawings or 3D or other models owned or provided by Purchaser; (c) the terms and existence of this Purchase Order; and (d) other tangible or intangible property furnished by Purchaser in connection with this Purchase Order, including any drawings, specifications, data, goods and/or information. Purchaser will be the exclusive owner of all right, title and interest in and to the Foreground Intellectual Property and all related patents, copyrights, trade secrets, trademarks and other intellectual property rights. Supplier will promptly disclose all Foreground Intellectual Property to Purchaser. Foreground Intellectual Property will constitute "works made for hire," and the ownership of such Foreground Intellectual Property will vest in Purchaser at the time they are created. For Foreground Intellectual Property that does not constitute works made for hire owned by Purchaser, Supplier hereby unconditionally assigns and transfers to Purchaser, without separate compensation, and agrees to cause its employees to unconditionally assign and transfer to Purchaser, all right, title and interest that Supplier or its employees may now or hereafter have in the Foreground Intellectual Property. Supplier will ensure that all copyright notices and confidentiality legends on all Foreground Intellectual Property authored by Supplier or any of its employees will specify Purchaser as the owner.

Upon Purchaser's termination of the Purchase Order under the preceding sentence, Purchaser's responsibility and liability with respect to the terminated, canceled or modified Products will be equitably adjusted by mutual agreement of the parties; provided, however, that Purchaser's responsibility and liability shall not exceed (a) the total price otherwise payable by Purchaser under this Purchase Order for the terminated, canceled or modified Products, less (b) the sum of (1) the estimated costs that would have been incurred by Supplier to complete and deliver the canceled Products, and (2) the reasonable value of the canceled Products at the time of cancellation.

B. Termination for Cause. Purchaser, without liability, may by written notice of default, terminate the whole or any part of this Purchase Order if Supplier: (a) fails to perform within the time Specified or in any written extension granted by Purchaser; (b) fails to make progress which, in Purchaser's reasonable judgment, endangers performance of this Purchase Order in accordance with its terms; or (c) fails to comply with any of the terms of this Purchase Order. Such termination shall become effective if Supplier does not cure such failure within ten (10) days of receiving notice of default. Upon termination, Purchaser may procure at Supplier's expense and upon terms it deems appropriate, goods or services similar to those so terminated. Supplier shall continue performance of this Purchase Order to the extent not terminated and shall be liable to Purchaser for any excess costs for such similar goods or services. Purchaser's rights and remedies in this clause are in addition to any other rights and remedies provided by law, equity or under this Purchase Order. In the event Purchaser wrongfully terminates this Purchase Order under this paragraph, in whole or in part, such termination becomes a termination for convenience.

15. Assignment; Successors and Assigns. Supplier shall comply with all Export Control Laws before providing or granting access to any such
